James M. Cassin Superintendent-Director

Dear Graduates,

After forty years in technical education, the past seven as Superintendent-Director, together we complete our high school journey - you will graduate and I will retire. My experience in education has taught me many valuable lessons. Reflecting upon the experience, I realize that I was not solely an instructor, I too, was a student. I learned as much from the students, as hopefully, they have from me. While our time at Greater Lowell is coming to an end, it is here our paths will separate. Your career is before you and you now have the opportunity to make your own path in life.

For some, you will go on to college, graduate school, and beyond. For others, the world of work awaits you, while still others will serve in our country's military. I am confident you will follow the path that you started on as a student at Greater Lowell. Your families, your teachers, your friends, and your experiences have all helped you reach this point. You have been well prepared to meet life; however, just as it was you who reached your goal of graduation, it is you who holds the keys to your own future success.

With planning, perseverance, and hard work as your guiding principles, you will meet them all with grace and strength, and accomplishing great things will be your reward. The important thing is that you challenge yourself to be successful in whatever you do. The more you challenge yourself, the more you will realize what you can do when you succeed. Each challenge that is successfully met will give you a greater feeling of confidence in your ability and your potential to succeed.

Inevitably, regardless of the path you choose, mistakes will be made along the way. It's part of life. We all make mistakes and the secret is to learn from our mistakes. Don't get discouraged when it happens to you; consider it an opportunity for growth. Never let those things that are difficult or that challenge you keep you from achieving your goals.

To all graduates, as you make decisions regarding your future, have the courage to stand by your convictions. Decide what the right path is for you, develop a plan to help you achieve your goals and never let mistakes or obstacles keep you from attaining the end result you set out to accomplish.

I thank you and the classes before for you, for giving me the opportunity to spend my career at one of the finest technical high schools in the country; it has been a great experience. I offer my congratulations to the class of 2010 and wish you success as you start your journey on your new path.

Sincerely,
James M. Cassin

In Memoriam

Luis S. Espinoza

Reynaldo Tirado

*Our lives go on without you,
but nothing is the same.*

*We try to hide our heartaches,
when someone speaks your name.*

*No one knows how many times
we have broken down and cried.*

*Sad are the hearts that love you,
silent are the tears we cry.*

Living with out you is the hardest part of all.
